SIXTY-FIRST YEAR

NO. 6

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, JANUARY 7, 1938

PRICE, $1.50 A YEAR

NEWS LETTER FROM STATE DEPARTMENTS

COLUMBUS.—A survey by agricultural experts and rural economists indicated an increase in Ohio farm income during 1937 of $25,516,000, when compared with the 1936 farm income, according to the Ohio co-operative crop-reporting service. During 1937 the yield of 10,515,500 acres, which included government payments and live stock products, was estimated at $343,870,000. In 1936 a total of 10,238,500 acres had a cash value of $315,154,000. Ohio, which ranked sixth state in agricultural money yield in 1936, maintained the same position in 1937 among agricultural states. Most Ohio crops showed a substantial increase in production in 1937, with the exception of sugar beets which declined sharply as a result of adverse weather conditions, the survey showed.

The public hearing on proposed changes in the regulations regarding the taking of fish, minnows and crayfish next spring will be held in Columbus on January 25 by the Ohio Conservation Council, it was announced by Conservation Commissioner Lawrence Woodruff. One of the most important matters up for discussion will be the question of spring fishing for bass. There is a widespread opinion among sportsmen that Ohio lakes and streams should be closed to bass fishing, if not all angling until June 15. Commissioner Woodruff said. The bass season, if unchanged, will be closed only between May 1 and June 16, while the taking of other fish is permitted at all times.

Cliff Mitchell, former Richland county commissioner and a member of the Richland county fair board for twenty-five years, has been appointed by Governor Martin L. Davey as a member of the state board of agriculture. He succeeds Lee B. Palmer of Pataaskala, who served on the board for a decade. Both Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Palmer are noted as owners and operators of exceptional sheep farms.

Superintendent Thomas P. Kearns of the division of safety and hygiene, Industrial Commission of Ohio, reported that 24,045 injury and occupational disease claims were filed with the commission for October. There were ninety-three fatalities. The claims totaled $3,046 less than in the preceding month, but the fatalities represented an increase of nine. Superintendent Kearns said. Mining, which resulted in fifteen deaths, led all industries in fatalities. Machinery, with 4,849 cases, led in accident causes.

State Librarian Paul A. T. Noon received word from Washington of the approval of an allocation of approximately $1,000,000 in WPA funds to the Ohio state library board for expansion of its services throughout the state. Mr. Noon is secretary of the board. The WPA funds will be used for several types of increased services, including the delivery of books to shut-ins and the establishment of reading rooms in many small Ohio communities which do not have such facilities.

State Treasurer Clarence H. Knisley last week reported the balances, on December 15, of four funds of which he is custodian as Industrial Commission of Ohio, $53,614,661; State Teachers' Retirement system, $50,692,286; State Employees' Retirement system, $1,909,278; and School Board Employees' Retirement system, $182,010.

Former Cedarvillian

Makes Good On

Sewer Device

Timothy Haley, Sheridan avenue, Springfield, former Cedarvillian, has invented and had patented an electric device that will prove helpful to plumbers and sewer crews in the city.

The feature of the invention is a flexible fine spring-steel piano wire cable which acts as a sheath for a rotating axle which drives a cutting knife.

When forced in a sewer the cable with knife cut through all kinds of obstacles. Tests have proven the drill with 200 feet of cable will bore a hole through the hardest kind of wood. It is the only cutting sewer device that is flexible enough to pass through a sewer trap. Haley is a millwright for a steel company in Springfield.

Back in 1908 Haley invented a safety device for railway black signals while he was employed by the Pennsylvania lines. In 1922 he invented a gas regulator valve to prevent escaping gas from burners. His early invention in the sewer field was a sewer basket that is automatic and is used by many cities in cleaning sewer lines. He has never received profit from his inventions but expects to take the profit from his last invention, which will be made in Springfield, to bring infringement suits, where others have copied his patents.

CHAS. G. CANNON MET DEATH ON STATE HIGHWAY

Charles G. Cannon, 32-year-old member of the State Highway Patrol, Springfield outpost, met instant death about 3:40 p. m. Saturday, when his motorcycle struck a dog, which fell over an embankment and smashed against a tree. The accident happened on the Columbus pike, State Route 42, on Samuel's hill west of Cedarville.

Cannon suffered a broken neck, skull fracture, and fractures of the left leg and left arm. Dr. H. C. Schick, county coroner after investigating pronounced death as accidental. Sheriff George P. Henkel was notified of the accident.

There were no eye witnesses to the accident, the first being Mrs. Homer Shaw, who resided nearby and happened to see an overturned vehicle. She notified her son, Carl, 16, and Clarence Reed, 21, and Robert Reed, 23, the last two being guests at the Shaw home. The boys investigated and notified Sheriff Henkel.

The dog that caused the death of the officer, was a police dog, that ran from a lane and across the road, the officer not being able to see the dog owing to the cut in the driveway from the road. The dog had broken from its leash in the yard of Mrs. Laura Long while the family was at dinner.

Going west and down grade the officer probably could not have checked his car after striking the dog and he hurled down a steep embankment into a tree. The dog was badly injured and was later killed by the sheriff's deputies.

The deceased has been stationed at the Springfield post since Nov. 17. He resided in Columbus and is survived by his wife, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Cannon. Cannon is reported to be the seventh highway patrolman to have met violent death since it was founded in 1925.

The body was brought to Cedarville where it was saved from the McMillan Funeral Home and later taken to Columbus.

Following an inspection of the county jail, the jury recommended that county commissioners arrange for improved toilet facilities and ventilation in the prisoners' quarters, suggesting for this purpose ventilation or exhaust fans; recommended a new and larger stove and coffee urn, and advocated removal of the "unsightly" iron fence in front of the jail.

JAPAN GETS AMERICAN PIG IRON FOR GUNS

We read with interest from the Birmingham, Ala., "Age-Herald," that joy reigns in that steel district because Japan has placed an order for 50,000 tons of pig iron. The "Age-Herald" thinks more such orders from Japan would remove much fear and tension between that country and the U. S. Who is there that believes this pig iron will be turned into plow shears or pruning hooks? The Japanese government is at war with China and the Democratic demagogues think the people of this country are weak-minded enough to believe the administration is not secretly backing Japan. The Democratic "Age-Herald" would render a useful service if it would publish the list of leading Democrat politicians that are taking huge profits in selling supplies to Japan through dummy companies. Only New Dealers can get clearance papers for shipment into the war zone.

BANKERS ARE TRUSTEES OF FATHER'S ESTATE

For the information of New Dealers in particular, and citizens in general, you will be interested in a news story published December 29 in Gov. Cox's "Springfield Sun," that refers to action of trustees of the estate of the father of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Under the will the only son was barred, a very unusual procedure for a parent to name others as trustees of the estate during the life of Franklin. With most parents it is a distinctive pride to name usually the eldest son or sons as executors or trustees of the father's estate. Now and then some parent discovers a spend-thrift son and to protect the estate for the widow or minor children is forced to name outsiders to carry out terms of a will.

The story as written by Carter Field, Washington correspondent, says that the New York bankers as trustees, wrote Franklin as to how surplus funds could best be invested to be safe.

According to the story; Roosevelt laconically answered: "You are the trustees." The bankers invested the funds in government inflated bonds and then wired Franklin: "We have put the money in government bonds. Now you are the trustee."

It would be interesting if Carter Field, or some writer, make public the list of investments of the million dollar trust estate so that the public could see whether large government contracts were being given such companies.

ROOSEVELT WANTS FARMER PUT ON BUSINESS BASIS

To some, comfort can be found in the Roosevelt message Monday, to Congress; to others, disagreement and caustic comment. To most people the message was the ranting of a mad man bent on destruction, the attack on "good and bad" industrialists being a smoke screen to foster his campaign of class distinction and his gospel of class hatred that he proposed to take from the "haves and give to the have-nots." This is what happened in Russia under Communism; and finally homes, factories and farm land was taken over by the government and no one allowed to own real estate.

Roosevelt was plain in his demands that Congress pass the farm bill that will regiment all farmers in America, just what is done in Russia. His attitude on the minimum hour and wage bill for all classes of labor can be endorsed so long as it applies to every branch of labor from the washwoman to the home, as well as farm, store and factory labor. It has been our opinion that the nation would never be lifted from the "frenzied spell it has been slumbering" until Uncle Sam put his hand in every pocket book each week of the year. It might be a good idea to adopt the Roosevelt idea that the farmer be put on a business basis along with the merchant and manufacturer. What ever the result, all classes would be treated the same. The wage and hour bill might prove somewhat of a burden on a few New Dealers we hear of that manage to pay farm help $30 a month and house rent. The south pays from fifteen to seventeen dollars monthly for farm labor.

The demands are now before congress and all we can do is sit back and await the day when the farmers in Greene county will not be able to market their crops until some New Dealer gives the word that only ten per cent of your wheat can be sold on a certain day.

That will be the day Hell will open its doors and pour its furor on every New Dealer.

Gov. Davey gave his radio audience Monday night a taste of what goes on in the Ohio legislature. The legislature has been uncovering the sins of the Governor's administration in the form of legal graft. No other governor and no other legislature ever exchanged mutual charges.

"'Tis better to be trampled out by asses' hoofs," wrote John Masfield, "than be the thing the asses' mind approves."

"He that would govern others should first master himself."

When the Columbus Citizen, a Scripps-Howard chain paper, poked a shaft at Roosevelt and his administration, there must be "something rotten in Denmark." People who take Christmas in the spirit of the event it is supposed to celebrate were startled when Roosevelt in his Christmas message "to the nation" found his sentiment by reading a part of the column syndicated by Heywood Brown, a professed Communist. It was just as great a surprise to the Christian people that Brown, whose antagonistic religious views irrespective of creed, should go to the Bible for a "Christmas message." The Citizen refers to the Brown message as the "season's greeting to the Jews Incarnate of the world." If Roosevelt felt the same in repeating what Brown said how could his underlings, Ickes and Jackson, forget the "God bless us every one?" The Citizen concludes with this: "Let's hope the recession doesn't last longer than this benevolence—and that Mr. Ickes was only a Scrooge for Mr. Roosevelt." The startling thing of the once stout supporter of Roosevelt is that the word "President" is no where attached to the Roosevelt name.

Samuel R. Guard, Spencer, Ind., editor of the well-known Breeder's Gazette, has taken a poll of 200,000 live stock farmers and finds that 95 per cent of them do not agree with the Roosevelt-Wallace program. In the current issue Guard gives the figures as 96.23 "yes" on dropping all benefits for stabilized prices, while 3.77 per cent voted in the negative. The vote on the question "Do you want your ever-normal granary or other type of farm recovery that is adopted to be run by your own state organization of farmers?" The vote was 76.24 "yes," and 24.76 "no." Ten per cent of all the soil conservation funds, or $44,000,000 went to farm politicians for salaries and expenses the last year. This was admitted a few days ago by the "ag" department following debate on the senate floor. Forty-four million certainly should guarantee a first class job of "Farming the Farmer."

The "dog and cat" fight among Democratic politicians in Ohio; the charges and counter charges of corruption, leaves an odor similar to what will soon break out down in Washington among the 100 per cent Democrats and the Klu Klux New Dealers. With a Franklin county grand jury investigation the sale of paroles for Ohio prisoners, a Senate investigating committee on "legal graft" in the highway and liquor departments, and charges Monday by Gov. Davey, who it might be said is not interested in any investigation except where he can control the committee or jury. Some time ago the Gov. named his college professor investigation committee where fat fees would be a temptation to whitewash administration corruption, but so far neither the highway department or the governor has made public that report. If Lieutenant Governor Yoder and his "hatchet crew" want a new road for investigation, they might lift the cover on a prominent Democratic chieftain that had an auto upset some months ago. Investigating officials not knowing at the time who the "chief" was, found evidence of liquor and more than 5000 one dollar bills in a grip. It is said the "chief" had been on a collection tour picking up the change where gambling outfits were in state liquor stores.

The "Big Apple," sensational dance that was jerked from a negro dive night club down in S. Carolina, promises to outdo the famous Chicago World's fair (1893) "Coochie" dance. It was given a White House debut last week and we may from now on see the heads of New Deal families featuring the popular dance in their homes knowing it has fashion's approval. The White House, famous for its beer parties, was at its best before the advent of Christmas. A special train brought some 400 of the swell New Yorkers, the sons and daughters and the grandchildren of the nations "economic royalists" down to the White House where a big evening was had and merriment reigned to the Bowery classics.

Columbus is getting its taste of the original "Big Apple" at one of its leading theatres. A theatre manager while down in S. Carolina found four boys and four girls, probably fifteen years old on the average, that were doing a sensational dance on the street for a few pennies thrown their way. When asked by the theatre manager where they learned the dance they said it was at a negro night club. A checkup was made and the dance taken to New York where it was featured and soon became the rage. Reports we get of the Columbus reception is that at each performance many women get up and walk out, a rather impolite thing to do when the White House gives the "Big Apple" the society approval.

New Deal prosperity and enforced overhead costs of operating two leading restaurants in Columbus, a resolve has been asked for the Mills well-known eating houses. Restaurants and hotels under the union demands for labor and Ohio fixed laws for help, coupled with social security taxes are having a hard time making ends meet. One Xenia proprietor informs us that all these extra taxes means more than one thousand dollars a year extra in the cost of doing business. Reports we get are that few eating houses in the county are complying with either state or federal requirements in the operation of restaurants. State authorities are having a hard time enforcing the law.

Sen. George Berry, Dem., labor leader, wants some two million damages from the New Deal, of which he is a part. When Morris dam was built in Tennessee, no one knew that some 200 feet of water would cover a great marble deposit for a distance of a mile or so. George, being a millionaire labor union head, made no objection to building the dam on his "marble deposit." Now he demands two million damages but one member of the TVA board, Arthur Morgan, former president of Antioch College, opposed payment of the graft. Other members of the board and New Dealers think the wealthy labor union leader should have damages as requested. The "stink" raised by Dr. Morgan has caused New Dealers to hold their nose but Berry wants pay for his "marble."

Carole Has Swing

Blonde Carole Lombard introduces a new kind of "swing-to-the-right" to Fredric March, in "Nothing Sacred," a sensational United Artist Technicolor comedy which will open at the State theater in Springfield with a special Friday night "Owl Show" preview, January 7.
"Nothing Sacred" runs the gamut of comedy with stress on the subtle, the satirical and the slapstick as Carole Lombard and Fredric March tear the mask off the gay White Way of Broadway. This lavish glamorous production tells the unique story of a beautiful country girl who comes to town and takes advantage of the world's largest city.
In "Nothing Sacred," Technicolor reveals for the first time the lovely golden beauty of Carole Lombard and the suave charm of Fredric March. Charles Winninger and Walter Connolly head the supporting cast.

Wonder If New Stove Will Use Old Ntensils

Ohio women who are thinking about electric stoves want to know whether their old cooking utensils will be practical under the new conditions, according to Thelma Beall, home management specialist, Ohio State University.

Miss Beall says that the success of the old utensils depends not upon their age but upon their shape and surface. Some of the experiment stations worked out a series of tests which showed that the cooking dishes should have a bottom that absorbs heat readily and also should have sides and tops which lose as little heat as possible.

Utensils with brightly polished bottoms reflect heat and are not as efficient as those with dull colored or black bottoms. This does not hold true for enamel ware, however. Kettles or pans which a narrow rim around the bottom are held up from the heat unit and require more heat than a flat-bottomed dish.

Miss Beall says the facts which apply to cooking utensils to be used on electric stoves also apply when they are used on any other stove. However, most women who use coal or wood for fuel in the range save little by using utensils which conserve heat. The heat cannot be turned off immediately after the food is cooked so there is little object in being fussy with pots and pans.

The electric range can be started and stopped at any time and the current is metered so that savings can be made by the wise choice of dishes for cooking. Miss Beall says to remember that dish surfaces which reflect light also reflect heat.

TAX COLLECTION WILL START ABOUT FEB. 15

The first of 1937 real estate taxes along with special assessments will be payable on or about February 15th, according to H. M. Smith, county treasurer. The delay has been due to the fact that re-appraisal of real estate has been held up by the company appraising industrial plants in the county.

"Rosalie" Has A New Love Team

Nelson Eddy and Eleanor Powell in "Rosalie".
Messor Powell of "Born to Dance" and "Broadway Melody" fame blends her sampling taps with the golden voice of Nelson Eddy of "Maytime" and other screen triumphs, in the spectacular musical "Rosalie" opening at the Regent theater in Springfield, for a week's engagement, Friday, January 1.
Like a dream of romance sprung from a world of music this musical comedy presents attractions so vast and dance ensembles so lavish as to make one doubt one's eyes. The title song "Rosalie" is sung by Nelson as he stands outside Eleanor's bedroom window. He also wows Miss Powell in a garden sequence singing "In the Still of the Night."
Two new faces are introduced, one a new continental discovery, Ilona Massey who packs a wow in her American screen debut and the other Ray Bolger, famous Broadway comedian dancer.

Beautiful Wedding Wednesday Afternoon In M. E. Church

One of the most beautiful weddings of the mid-winter season took place in the local Methodist Episcopal Church last Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock, when Miss Jane West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph West, became the bride of Mr. Clyde Allen Hutchison, Jr., Columbus, formerly of this place.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. A. Hutchison, pastor of South M. E. Church, Columbus, father of the bridegroom, assisted by Rev. C. E. Hill, D.D., local pastor. Guests numbered a hundred or more.

Green and silver branches of pine barked the altar and wreaths of cedar tied with white taffeta bows, were hung from the light brackets on the side walls. Two seven branch candelabra, with white tapers, flanked the altar and single white tapers burned in the windows. The service was read by candlelight.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Mildred Trumbo, organist, played Liebestraume—Listz; Venetian Love Song—Nevin; Schubert's Serenade. Miss Doris Hartman, of Cedarville, sang "I Love You Truly" and "At Dawning" and Mr. Dwight Hutchison, of Columbus, brother of the bridegroom, sang "O Promise Me" and "Because."

As Miss Trumbo played the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin, the wedding party entered the church led by the ushers, Messrs. Montgomery and Joseph S. West, Jr., brothers of the bride; Philip Aultman, of Xenia, her cousin, and Paul Miller, of Canton.

Miss Rebecca Liggett, of Ripley, O., cousin of the bride, and Miss Frances Hutchison, of Columbus the bridegroom's sister, were bridesmaids. They walked together following the ushers and were dressed alike in gowns of aqua marine taffeta, fashioned on long, straight-fitting lines. The gowns had square necks and long, tight-fitting sleeves, slightly puffed at the shoulder. Rows of tiny satin-covered buttons extended down the backs. They wore aqua marine footwear and their headresses were short veils held in place by wreaths of gold flowers. Each carried an arm bouquet of gold chrysanthemums.

Miss Ruth West, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a gown of peach taffeta, fashioned similar to the gown of the bridesmaids. She wore a similar headress and carried an arm bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums.

Little Miss Berry Lou Hutchison, small sister of the bridegroom as flower girl, appeared in a dainty frock of peach taffeta, fashioned along princess lines and carried a basket of white baby chrysanthemums.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father who gave her in marriage. She was lovely in a gown of white satin, fashioned on straight lines, with a slight train. The gown had long, tight-fitting sleeves and a square neckline and its only trimming was a row of white satin buttons extending down the back. A short tulle veil held in place by a wreath of white blossoms, covered her face. She carried a shower bouquet of white chrysanthemums and baby breath.

The bride and attendants were met at the altar by the bridegroom, his brother, Mr. Dwight Hutchison, who served as best man, and the officiating ministers. For the recessional, Miss Trumbo played Mendelssohn's "Wedding March."

Following the ceremony 100 guests were received at the West home. An ice course, with yellow and white appointments, was served from a large table, which had a wedding cake as the centerpiece. Miniature corsages of yellow chrysanthemums were given as favors.

Assisting in receiving and entertaining were Miss Susannah West, of Toledo, sister of the bride; Miss Margaret Belle Liggett, of Ripley; Miss Hazel Nelson of this place, and Mrs. Dan Aultman, of Xenia.

Mr. and Mrs. Hutchison left Wednesday evening for New York City where they will establish their home while Mr. Hutchison is engaged in research work at Columbia University. The bride's traveling costume consists of a black crepe frock with green accessories.

Mrs. Hutchison was graduated from Cedarville College in 1934 and attended Ohio State University. She taught at Russellville, O., for one year and in Spring Valley Twp. High School for two years.

Mr. Hutchison was graduated from Cedarville College in 1933 and later served as an assistant in the chemistry department at Ohio State University, where he received his Ph.D. degree in chemistry Dec. 22. He is a member of Alpha Gamma, Phi Lambda Upsilon and Sigma Xi Fraternities.

Will They Take It From A Friend?
Manufacturers of whiskey are now joining their efforts with those of health authorities, life insurance companies and well disposed people generally in an effort to stem the steadily rising tide of automobile accidents. They view with alarm the number of automobile accidents that are attributed to drunken driving, and they are frankly advising consumers of their products not to drink when drinking, or not to drink when about to drive. may esteem the source of this advice, there is no denying that it is good as far as it goes. There are those of course who hold that an absolute boycott of the distillers' product is the only best policy, but if people who think otherwise can be induced to do their drinking at suitable times and places it may help some. The trouble with some drinkers is that the tighter they get the more competent they feel to drive, and they insist on getting behind the wheel when they ought to be in the back seat, or maybe in a padded cell.

There will be plenty of accidents when drivers are cold sober, and the number will rise in proportion to the drivers' state of inebriation. Law enforcement agencies do something to combat the evil by enforcing more severe penalties upon the drunken driver who gets in trouble, but this is often a case of locking the stable after the horse is stolen. The time to prevent accidents is before they occur, and the help of the distillers in that direction is welcome. Maybe some of the bibulously inclined will heed good advice from folks who they think are bent on curbing their cherished personal liberties.

PIONEER STORIES OF OHIO

"OLD HICKORY" ASSAULTED

Lieut. Robert B. Randolph, who struck President Jackson in the face while the latter was seated at a table on board a steamboat in the summer of 1833, was for a number of years a resident of Ohio.

The circumstances of the assault were these. The president and members of his cabinet were on their way to Fredericksburg, Virginia, to attend the ceremony of laying the corner stone of the monument to the memory of the mother of Washington. On the way thither the steamboat in which he was traveling stopped at the wharf at Alexandria. At the moment the general was alone in the cabin, reading a newspaper, when Randolph smarting under a sense of wrong in not getting an appointment, hurried aboard, and finding the president thus absorbed, rushed upon him, and having fully accomplished, as he claimed, this indignity, quickly made good his escape before the crowd on board could fairly comprehend what had taken place. Taken by surprise, the aged warrior in a terror of passion, sprang from his seat, his spectacles, it was said, going one way and his newspaper another, and called out, "Give me my cane! Give me my cane! By the Eternal I'll chastise the rascal!"

Better Prepared Than Ever...for 1938

For well over half a century we have built and rebuilt and enlarged our facilities for rendering gas and electric service. By the very nature of our business, we grew in advance of the population and manufacturing needs of the communities we serve. Now, as the year 1938 is ushered in, we are better prepared than ever before to meet all demands for service. During 1937, an expansion program at our main Miller's Ford generating station was completed at a cost of about $3,500,000, providing greater generating capacity... an added guarantee to every customer that we will continue to uphold our record for dependable service.
